Difficulties in Program Synthesis In the past thirty years, a great deal of progress has been made in the development of program synthesis systems based on theorem proving, transformations, and logic programming. However, in spite of this progress, these techniques are not in the mainstream of software development.

the viewpoint of logic-based program synthesis and to propose an agent-based framework for supporting the composition process in a scalable and extensible manner. The approach described in this thesis uses Linear Logic-based theorem proving to assist and automate the composition of Semantic Web services.
