A crossword is a word puzzle that usually takes the form of a square or a rectangular grid of white and black-shaded squares. The game's goal is to fill the white squares with letters, forming words or phrases, by solving clues, which lead to the answers. In languages that are written left-to-right, the answer words and phrases are placed in the grid from left to right and from top to bottom.

Pattern puzzles are a sub-class of Put-Together puzzles. They consist of a number of similar pieces or movable parts, each of which has some particular identifying trait or traits whose values are chosen from a small well-defined set - sometimes shape, but more often a color or pattern, along the edges or on the face(s) of the piece.

Packing problems are a class of optimization problems in mathematics that involve attempting to pack objects together into containers. The goal is to either pack a single container as densely as possible or pack all objects using as few containers as possible. Many of these problems can be related to real life packaging, storage and transportation issues.
