Future Imperfect: Science, Technology, and the

A ground-breaking study of the increasing gap between how technology is imagined, used and made to mean, Technological Imaginings and Cultures of Change shows that the real issues critical to digital engagement surround community makeup, work and creative practices, financial imperatives, political structures and individual motivation.

Technological Imaginings and Cultures of Change: Youth

Technology is created through the influenced by a culture, and culture is also influenced by technology. Technology and culture are interrelated variables that links with each other. Both influenced the other. Though technologies are made by humans, it is because of the influence of other cultures.

Technology and Culture Influence Each Other - Productive

Generally speaking, issues surrounding culture and globalization have received less attention than the debates, which have arisen over globalization and the environment or labor standards. In part this is because cultural issues are more subtle and sensitive, and often more confusing. "The homogenizing influences of globalization that are most ...

Culture and Globalization

Focusing in particular on variations in cultural genre and delivery technology, the study aims to help clarify extant disciplinary discussions about if and how media consumption interconnects with the substance of individual national imaginings in an era of cultural globalization.
